Theresa Wright has been treating me with aromatherapy massage as a means of alleviating M.E. symptoms and improving my energy levels and general emotional well-being.

The effects of the massage have surpassed my expectations; together with psychotherapy, my M.E. symptoms have all but disappeared and my energy levels are higher than they have been for more than ten years. The massage has been a crucial part of my recovery and when I miss a regular session, I notice the drop in my health almost immediately. The massage has had an astonishing long term restorative impact on my overall health.
